Marymount's Annual Book Fair on Weekend

Looking for a volume on Cleopatra's chatter with Mark Antony, or how to play left-handed polo, how to bake a black bottom pie or what Eskimos do in the summer?

These, along with tomes covering great literature, today's world of scientific advancement, international events, and people who make history will be available at the third annual Marymount Book Fair on Oct. 16, 17 and 18 at the Palos Verdes Peninsula.

The children haven't been overlooked, either, with stalls offering books to delight the beginning reader to the teen-ager, along with puppet shows and story hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Zelt, chairmen of the fair, report that collections of books are now in full swing, with all indications pointing to a final assortment of 15,000 assorted hard-cover and paperback books for browsers and purchasers.

Prices will be at an economy level to enable fair visitors to add substantially to their libraries.

The three-day event is sponsored by the Friends of the Marymount College Library, of which Mrs. J. Wear Pearson II is chairman. All proceeds will go to the purchase of new books for the college library.

Gift volumes which can be assimilated directly into the college library will be acknowledged by individual book plates permanently honoring the donor.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Trimming baby's nails can be a chore at times, especially if he's a confirmed fist-clencher. Two clever-mother suggestions that may prove just right for you:

- You might try snipping them right after a meal, when your wee one's drowsy, his fingers relaxed.
- If baby's a steady sitter, try placing him on your lap in front of a mirror for the manicure. Self-reflected glory is absorbing.

Vegetable review with two special points of view. Introducing a variety of vegetables at an early age serves a two-fold purpose. It helps build good eating habits when food acceptances are most easily established. It provides a wide range of vitamins and minerals. Gerber Strained Vegetables are notable for garden-fresh colors and natural-flavor goodness. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, each one is "custom-cooked" according to its own requirements to preserve the utmost in precious nutritive values.

Substitute plan. If your baby should occasionally rebel at a vegetable, why force the issue when you can easily substitute another with similar nutritive values? Mixed Vegetables for Sweet Potatoes or Squash for Spinach, for example?

Beauty course. Whenever you give baby his oil or lotion beauty treatment, snitch a few drops for the backs of your hands. Wonderfully satinating, also helps keep cuticles soft.

Smile center. Grins galore are usually in store for you when you top off baby's main course with a Gerber Strained Pudding occasionally. Delicately flavored and delightfully smooth, any one will make a happy ending for a baby meal. Made from whole milk solids and egg yolks, they offer good nutritional benefits, too. Vanilla, Chocolate or Orange. P.S. For a flavor bonus, top with a dollop of any Gerber Strained Fruit. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.
